

MISS NERGER, MR. RAYMER MARRY IN CHURCH SERVICE

Church to William C. Raymer. The lilies of the valley. before a beautifully decorated altar of white stock and gladiola.

Mrs. Milton Schroeder sang "O' Perfect Love," accompanied by Mr. Henry Stroebel, who also play ed the pre-nuptial music and the man and Carl Nerger of Houston, wedding march.

The parents of the couple are uncles of the bride, ushered.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Norger of Giddings, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. wore a navy blue crepe. The Raymer of Dallas.

A former student of Seguin Luth crepe. Both wore orchid corsages. eran College, the bride was em-Corpus Christi.

orpus Christi.

The bride wore a wedding gown' For travel, the bride wore a with a fitted booice and very full cessories. Her lime green silk skirt which swept to a cathedral green blouse was trimmed in sattength train. An-off-the-shoulder in and she wore a corsage of lilies yoke of imported illusion was out of the valley and an orchid. lined with bridal pearl motif and The couple will be at home at the neckline to form a necklare as, effect. Her fingertip veil of brid- The 'Star' joins the many friends

Miss Margaret Nerger of Gid- al illusion was held in place by a dings was married Saturday even- crown of orange blossoms. She ing at 7:00 o'clock in a candlelight carried a cascade of white hyaservice in the Immanuel Lutheran cinths, centered with an orchid and double ring ceremony was per-formed by the Rev. Max Studt- Arthur, the bride's friend, was the mann. The vows were pledged Matron of honor. She was gown-

and William L. Pratho of Giddings

groom's mother also chose a navy

ployed in Giddings as secretary to House was the setting for the wed-the County Judge. The groom at-ding supper. Members of the house tended Rice and S. M. U., and party were, Mrs. Fred Weiser and is now employed as geologist for Mrs. Ted Osthoff of Giddings, and the Sea Board Oil Company of Miss Charmine Littlefield of Hous-of ivory bridal satin, fashioned rose beige suit with palamino ac-

this same motif was repeated at 1107 2nd St. Corpus Christi, Tex-

of the couple in extending to them best wishes for a happy married