

The Giddings News

September 28, 1923

Fields White

Lee Bishop returned Monday from a trip to Wallis and Sealy. He says that it is almost a curiosity to see the fields white with cotton. The leaf worm had eaten all the leaves off and the cotton opened completely, making the fields white. Pickers have been scarce, and almost every farmer is making more than he can gather. Much of it will be lost if rains or storms soon come.